Quebec Immigration Program

Quebec is the largest Canadian province in area, and the second largest in population. French is spoken in Québec and is the first language of more than 80% of the population. It is the official language and the one most often used in public life — at work, in communications, trade and business. Quebec has set his own immigration levels, and developed its own points system and has control of all immigration procedures for immigrants destined to that province. To be selected as an immigrant worker, you must have:

at least one diploma that corresponds, in the Québec education system, to a Secondary School Diploma or a Diploma of Vocational Studies acquired training and occupational skills that will facilitate your insertion into the job market have adequate knowledge of French

For the Quebec Immigration Program, it is possible to apply under Skill Type O, A, B and C of the Canadian National Occupational Classification list.

Applications under the Quebec Immigration program are made in two parts. Québec is responsible for the selection of workers wishing to settle on its territory. The assessment takes into account the age of the applicant, the education level, the official language abilities (French & English), work experience or training, spouse or partner factors and relationship or visit or period of study in Quebec. In general, applicants under the age of 35 years with the official language abilities (French & English) and with a minimum of six months of work experience may have very high chances of obtaining Canadian
